ARE CHORES A CHORE?

By Ben Rominske, minister

For many decades chores have been practically a rite of passage for children. When I was younger, we had a sheet of what needed to be done for each child as well as an allowance given upon completion of those jobs. At one point, taking out the trash was priced around a quarter and I think cleaning the toilets was like fifty cents. My brother and I felt we were being underpaid for the work asked of us and decided to “strike” until better wages were given but things ended with us doing those chores and more without pay.

Admittedly parents provide for us more than enough to justify our household jobs, but it causes me to think about how many dread such tasks. As I’ve now spent a few years purely on my own I’ve come to fully understand that chores are not optional but necessary. Someone has to take the trash out or it will overflow and stink up the house, same with the dishes needing to be cleaned as well as the laundry. These are essential tasks with a regular occurrence and have parallels to our Christian walk.

Partaking of the Lord’s Supper, prayer, and praising God are three regularly occurring and integral parts of being a Christian. Yet how often do we allow one or multiple of them to seem bothersome? If we cannot give such parts of our faith proper devotion what are we doing? Furthermore, what is happening to ourselves?

1 Corinthians 11:28 says, “Let a person examine himself, then, and so eat of the bread and drink of the cup.” and Colossians 3:16 says, “Let the word of Christ dwell in you richly, teaching and admonishing one another in all wisdom, singing psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, with thankfulness in your hearts to God.” Last week in Matthew 6, we talked of good and bad examples of prayer.

I know life can be hard and overwhelming but standing steadfast in the faith will make all the difference for us. If we lack discipline in our walk we too will allow our dirty laundry and dishes to pile up. Instead if we keep at it, we can use the regular occurrences as dependable times for our encouragement and growth in the faith, they will be far from a chore. “Therefore, if anyone cleanses himself from what is dishonorable, he will be a vessel for honorable use, set apart as holy, useful to the master of the house, ready for every good work.” (2 Timothy 2:21)
